

The Parable of the Talents Activity Page 1

The master in the parable gave talents to his servants before he went away. While he was gone, each servant did something different with their talent(s). When the master came back, he found out how many talents he now had! Finish this picture to show what a difference each servant made with their talents. In each servant's baskets below, draw one thing (maybe a coin?) to represent each talent they had before the master's trip and after.

Which servant (or servants) made the master happy? Circle them.

God gives us talents so that we can bless the world, too. Which of these servants will you try to be like? Color the servant that you want to be!
